

WHO IS THIS MAN?

CAPTURED!

This guy recently attempted to burglarize a home on Druid Circle off of Moreland Avenue. The homeowner was at home and confronted him at which time he fled but not before she could take a picture of him and the vehicle he was operating. He immediately drove to a house on Linwood Ave between Ponce and North Ave and broke in, stealing a laptop and was again confronted by the homeowner. During the attempt on Druid Cir, the suspect had the tag covered but the cover must have fallen off because the victim from Linwood saw that the vehicle had GA BDG6227 displayed. Both victims said that the suspect has a pockmarked face really stood out. I've received information that the suspect frequents the park located at the intersection of Euclid Ave and Moreland. Officers saw this guy a few days prior walking along Euclid Avenue in Little 5 Points wearing the same green coats covered in white skulls.

Update 11/18/2009: The Atlanta Police has identified the individual featured on a BOLO flyer previously shared with you via Eye on Midtown. Information obtained by way of Crime Stoppers led to the arrest of Anthony Bernard Biggs on 11/12. Police executed a search warrant on his apartment and the vehicle he used while burglarizing one home and attempted another. Biggs was transported to Fulton Detention on burglary charges. Once he is released he will be taken to the DeKalb jail and charged with criminal attempt burglary.

Anyone knowing who this is should contact Officer Gurley(Zone 6 Burglary investigator – cgurley@atlantaga.gov) or to 911 (referencing a Zone 6 burglary investigation).
